Caution!

WE desire to warn the dealers in, and consumers of snuff generally, that since the war, certain tobacco manufacturers, being unable to find a market for their snuffs, felt themselves obliged to counterfeit the general appearance of our packages, and imitate our Trade Marks so that a close inspection is necessary to detect the spurious article from the genuine, and others going so far as to assert that "Lorillard's Snuff is no longer made."

In making this publication we desire to warn the public against the impositions practiced upon them; as they are the losers by it. It will be found upon comparison that Lorillard's Snuff is "far ahead" of all others, being made of the best stock after an original and secret process known only to ourselves, besides possessing great age strength and pungency, and is warranted not to contain any dangerous or deleterious substances, which cannot be said of the many worthless articles put on sale by others. The best is the cheapest in the end. A circular will always be mailed on application. In ordering please specify if Salt Snuff (High Toast), or Fresh Snuff (Extra Scotch) is desired.

THE man who was lost in slumber, found his way out on a night mare.

PROF. JOSHUA BILLINGS ON THE GOTE.

The gote iz a koarse woolen sheep.

They hav a split hoof and a whole tail.

They hav a good appetite and a sanguine digestion.

They swallo what they eat, and will eat ennything they can bite.

Their moral karakters are not polished; they had rather steal a rotten turnip, out of a garbage box, than tew cum onestly bi a pek ov oats.

The male gote haz two horns on the ridge ov hiz hed, and a mustash on hiz bottom lip, and iz the plug ugly ov hiz naberhood.

A maskuline gote will fite ennything, from an elephant down to hiz shadder on a ded wall.

They strike from their but end, instead ov sholder, and are az likely tew hit az a hammer iz a nailhed.

They are a high seazoned animal, az much so az a pound ov assifidity.

They are faithful critters, and will stick tew a friend az long az he lives in a shanty.

They kan klime ennything but a greast pole, and kno the way up a rock, az natral az a woodbine.

They are az certain to raize az yung ones, sam familevs are haff gotes, and the other haff children. They are good eating when they are yung, but they leave it opn az they get stronger.

They are alwus poor in the boddy but phatt in the stummick, what they eat seems to all go to appetigh, yu mite as well agree to phatt an injun-rubber over shew bi filling it with klam shells, az to raize enny adipoze membrane on the outside bust of a gote.

A phatt gote would be a literary curiosity.

They use the same dialekt az the sheep, and the yung ones speak the language more fluently than the parients do.

There iz only two animals ov the earth that will eat tobakko—one iz a man and tuther iz a gote, but the gote understands it the most, for he swallows the spit chaw and all.

The male gote, when he iz pensiv, iz a venerable and philosophy looking old cuss, and wouldn't make a bad professor of arithmetik in sum ov our colleges.

They are handy at living a long time, reaching an advanced age without arriving at enny definite konklusion.

How long a gote lives without giving it up, there iz no man now old enuff to tell.

Methuzeler, if hiz memory was bad az forgetting, mite giv a good-sized guess, but unfortunately for science and this essa, Methuzeler ain't here.

Gotes will live in enny klimate, and on enny vittles, except taubark, and if they cum to a square death it iz a profound sekret in the hands of a few, to this day.

I wouldn't like to believe enny man under oath who had ever seen a maskuline gote aktually die, and stay so.

Speaking of Methuzeler puts me in mind of the fact that if a man should live now daze, as mutch as he did, and only hev one eye tew see things with, he would hav to have an addishun built onto the back ov hiz hed tew stow away things into.

The femail gote iz either the mother, or sister, or cuzzin ov the male gote, ackording tew the prevailing circumstances in the case, or else i labor under a delusion, forget which.

They give milk intuitively about a quart, before it is watered, in twelve hours, which is the subject of nourishment in various ways.

This milk, witch is extracted from the female gote, iz excellent to finish up yung ones on, but is apt to make them bellycose, and fightful.

It iz not uncommon for a babe while inhaling this pugnashus fluid, oph hiz left collection or diggit and ketch the tap of it for nurse on the pinkle of the smeller claret.

This is a kommon fakt amung irish babes, and explains the reason whi, in after life, these same babes make such brilliant hits.

In writing the history ov the male and female gote, tew adorn the pages of futer times; i flatter miself that i hav stuck tew the truth, and haven't allowed mi imaginashun tew boss the job.

A grate menny ov our best bilt historians are apt tew mistake opinyuns for facts, this iz easy mistake tew make, but when i strike a goose, or bed bugg, or gote, yu notis one thing, i stay with them.

A BEAUTIFUL day, Mr. Jenkins." "Yes, very pleasant indeed." "Good day for the race." "Race—what race?" "The human race." "Oh, 'long with your stupid jokes, get up a good one like the one I told Day.—"Day—what Day?" "The day we celebrate," said Jenkins.

"WHAT does the minister say to our new cemetery," asked Mr. Hines.

"He don't like it all; he says he won't be buried there as long as he lives."

"Well," said Hines, "if the Lord spares my life, I will."

Once upon a time a Dutchman and a Frenchman were traveling in Pennsylvania, when their horse lost a shoe. They drove up to a blacksmith shop, and no one being in they proceeded to a house near by to enquire. The Frenchman gave a loud rap and called out:

"Is de smitty wittin?"

"Stand back," says Hans, "let me say somdkins. Ish der blacksmith's shop in de house?"

"Shut your eyes and listen mit me," said Uncle Van Heyde. "Vel, de first night I opens store I counts de monies, and finds him nix right.—I count him, and dere be tree dollar gone, and what does yer tink I does den?" "I can't say." "Vy, I did not count him any more, and he come out shoost right ever since."

The other night a landlord, discovering one of his customers who was drunk "sloshing about" in the mire, went to his assistance, and, setting him upon his feet, inquired if he was sick, or what was the matter. "No," replied the boozy customer, "I ain't sick, nor I ain't drunk- but I'm mighty discouraged."

Sunflower culture is profitable.—Much of the oil sold for linseed oil is made from the seeds of sunflowers.—The raw oil is made from them by pressing, in the same manner that the castor bean is pressed, after which the "waste" or "scrap cake," as it is sometimes called, is an excellent article of food for cattle and hogs.

☞ "A passive verb," said a teacher, "is expressive of the nature of receiving an action, as, 'Peter is beaten.' Now what did Peter do?"—"Well, I don't know," said the scholar deliberating, "unless he hollered."

WHAT ANSWER?—A young parson of the Universalist faith, many years since, when the Simon pure Universalism was preached, started westward to attend a convention of his brethren in the faith. He took the precaution to carry a vial of cayenne pepper in his pocket, to sprinkle his food with as a preventive against fever and ague. The convention met; and at dinner a tall Hoosier observed the parson as he seasoned his meat, and addressed him thus:

"Stranger, I'll thank you for a leetle of that 'ere red salt, for I'm kind of cur'ous to try it."

"Certainly," returned the parson, "but you will find it very powerful; be careful how you use it."

The Hoosier took the proffered vial and feeling himself proof against any quantity of raw whiskey, thought he could stand the "red salt" with impunity, and accordingly sprinkled a chunk of beef rather bountifully with it, and forthwith introduced it into his capacious mouth. It soon began to take hold. He shut his eyes, and his features began to writhe, denoting a very inharmonious condition physically.—Finally he could stand it no longer. He opened his mouth and screamed "fire!"

"Take a drink of cold water from the jug," said the parson.

"Will that put it out?" asked the martyr, suiting the action to the word. In a short time the unfortunate man began to recover, and turning to the parson, his eyes yet swimming in water, exclaimed:

"Stranger, you call yourself a 'Varsalist, I believe?"

"I do," mildly answered the parson.

"Wal, I want to know if you think it consistent with your belief to go about with hell-fire in your breeches pocket?"

Goldsborough News.

WEDNESDAY JULY 21, 1869.

☞ Read the advertisement of Geo. A. Deitz, to be found in the NEWS to-day, offering for sale "Pure Bred Hogs and Fouls, Winter Seed Wheat and other Farm Seeds."

It is well known to every intelligent farmer that the various crops of potatoes, wheat, &c., need changing.—Some fifteen years ago the white wheat was a marked success on all our richer lands. Now it is almost a total failure, scarcely any one seeding it. The two varieties of Mediterranean, the bald and bearded, were also very productive. Now they are not. Even the more lately introduced variety—known as the red chaff bearded Mediterranean,—is not as productive as it was when introduced some eight years ago. In the potato crop, the same deterioration has marked its cultivation. For several years the white Neshannock was the great potato of the west. Other varieties of Neshannock were also cultivated with success. Who cultivates them now, at least with any idea of profit? Other potatoes have taken their places, and these in turn will be supplanted by others.

These facts suggest some very important points for the consideration of all engaged in agricultural production. As the same area of land, the same amount of seed, and the same labor are required to cultivate and prepare for market, with poor, deteriorating varieties, as with the best, it behooves every farmer to look well to his seed. A few dollars expended in procuring new varieties will nearly always in the end pay from one hundred to five hundred per cent. When farmers can not conveniently get these varieties individually, they can club together and thus effect their object. This is a good time for them to begin some clubbing arrangement to procure winter wheat and fall barley from a distance. They could either send one of their number to make the purchase, and do the shipping, or trust it to other reliable agencies. What would the extra cost of even five dollars a bushel be, if by a change from two to ten or more bushels per acre would be harvested? Even one bushel per acre increase would likely defray all extra cost of seed, while the great advantage would be seen in succeeding crops, the increased yield of which would be clear profit. Farmers are generally willing to admit these facts, but they are usually slow to act upon their convictions. They have too little faith in one another's spirit of enterprise to propose to their neighbors such arrangements as we have mentioned. They too often think thus: "I will try my old variety once more. Perhaps it will do better next year." But next year comes and goes with an unprofitable crop. Our farmers can not too highly estimate the advantages of a change of seeds, nor too faithfully carry out plans to secure so desirable an end.

More Disloyal Sentiments.

In the Wilson Plaindealer of the 13th we find the following in an article describing an excursion party from Wilson to Smithville:

"A large U. S. flag hung like a thunder cloud over the place (Smithville)—and this alone marred the beauty of what was otherwise so charming. On leaving, the band played with much spirit our glorious old 'Dixie,' and it was 'music such as would linger man's life long years' to hear the notes of that Southern air swelling up under the shadow of the tyrant's ensign."

To which the New Berne Times replies as follows:

"How much longer are articles of the kind to disgrace the conservative press of the South. Would the star spangled banner have been a 'thundercloud' and a 'tyrant's ensign' had the Seymour and Blair ticket been elected in the last Presidential campaign? Does the Plaindealer expect to see immigration from any quarter of the globe to a section of country where such bitter hostility and hate to the government as appear in the above extract are published and endorsed in the public prints? As long as this hellish spirit is fostered and made public in so defiant and rebellious a manner, North Carolina will look in vain for the capital to develop her magnificent resources—immigrants will seek other States where a loyal people will welcome them to all the privileges and rights a good government bestows, and where said government is respected. We hope the decent conservative papers in the State will give a merited rebuke to such articles, which we believe are calculated to do the South no good but infinite harm.

The severity of the Times' reply is fully merited and the truth of its statements will be conceded by every fair-minded man in the State.

GOVERNOR WALKER'S INTERVIEW WITH GENERAL GRANT.—Hon. Gilbert C. Walker, Governor elect of Virginia, had an interview with the President to-day, which was eminently satisfactory. The interview lasted an hour and a half. The Governor explained to the President the exact position of affairs in Virginia and the nature of the opposition with which he had to contend. Reference was made to his speech in Richmond the day after the election, and the President said he endorsed all that Mr. Walker then uttered, and expressed the hope and belief that all that had happened would be for the best for the State and the country.

Governor Walker said he would carry out strictly the platform and policy upon which he had been elected, and that he meant to be Governor of Virginia, and would not be controlled by any class of politicians.—He wanted the President to disabuse his mind of all reports that were circulated that he would allow himself to be influenced by the old politicians. He avowed himself a Republican, and said he had fought the fight on Republican principles, and it was not his purpose to desert his platform.

The President gave Mr. Walker unreserved assurances that he was pleased at the result of the election; and when Mr. Walker expressed the hope that the Administration would sustain the State government of Virginia in perfecting what had been so auspiciously begun, the President expressed himself without reserve in favor of encouraging in every possible way the only policy that could be of any avail in reconstructing the South. He promised also that when Congress met he would recommend the reconstruction of the State upon the basis marked by the recent election. Governor Walker called simply to pay his respects to the President, and it was the latter who broached the subject of the Virginia contest, and he seemed anxious to hear all about it.—Washington telegram—Baltimore Sun.

A DESPERATE WOMAN THROWS HERSELF IN THE WAY OF THREE RAILROAD TRAINS.—The latest and most persistent attempt at self-destruction was made on Saturday night last by an unfortunate woman at Memphis Junction, on the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Ill-clad and wretched in appearance, she was observed wandering about in the vicinity of the depot, and appeared to be waiting the arrival of a train. When the bell announced the approach of the first train she was seen walking down the track, and then to throw herself across the rails directly in the path of the locomotive. Mr. Irving Sheldon, a telegraph operator, who had noticed her strange movements, ran to her and jerked her off the track before the train came up.

She had, however, fully made up her mind to die, and watching for the next train she repeated her frightful adventure, and was again dragged from the track by the operator. It was thought this second frustration of her purpose would discourage her, but it seemed to have the opposite effect. She yet lingered, and when warning-bell and whistle again sounded, she was again ready for the sacrifice, and prostrated herself a short distance in advance of a third train.—Mr. Sheldon, who had kept watch of her, again ran to the track and drew her away from it, and the train passed on without having harmed her.

The earnestness of her terrible purpose being now so apparent, she was taken from the depot. Her husband had been a brakeman on some railroad, which she did not name and had been killed. Her infant child, she said, had been taken from her mother, and she had no desire to live any longer.—Louisville Caronicle.

"Nothing can be well done that is done in a hurry," oracularly declared a certain pompous politician in New York, one day lately, on the steps of the City Hall. "How about catching fleas?" asked a wag at his elbow. The politician was floored.

A wedding took place near Dry Grove, Miss., a few days since, in which the bride had scarcely reached her tenth year, the groom being over six feet high and thirty-eight years of age.

KOSKOO, the great Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier, and Renovator, prepared by Dr. J. J. Lawrence, the celebrated Physician and Chemist, is a SAFE, PLEASANT, and RELIABLE remedy, for the PREVENTION and CURE of all diseases caused by a TORPID LIVER, IMPURE BLOOD, DISORDERS of the KIDNEYS, or DEBILITY of the NERVOUS SYSTEM.

It REGULATES the secretions, ERADICATES all HUMORS or TAINTS, restores lost or wasted nervous power, and at the same time builds up and imparts tone and vigor to the whole system.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

At a regular meeting of Goldsboro' Council, No. 43, Friends of Temperance, held in their Hall, on the evening of the 15th instant, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, Deity, the Omnipotent Architect of the Universe, in his unbounded wisdom, has seen fit to summon from our unsuspecting midst, and from the transitory scenes that so deceptively lend their superficial influence to conceal the never ending cares that attend this fleeting existence, to an immortal home of imperishable duration, that far beyond the "River of Death" beautifully gleams in rays of fadeless glory, our lamented Brother, WILLIAM GORDON DAVIS, whose departed spirit winged its flight forever, on the afternoon of the 15th of July, A. D., 1869; therefore be it

Resolved, That although we are incapable of lifting the pall of fathomless grief with which the early fall of our missing Brother, who has been called to the Spirit Land when life to him was brightest, has draped our mourning hearts; yet as creatures of entire helplessness it becomes us to unmurmuringly bow the knee of submission to the mysterious dispensation of Divine Providence.

Resolved, That we, who are still left to linger amid the varied events of inconstant earth, should ever remember that the dying shadow of each passing hour falls but to settle on some new made grave—is snatched from the Hour Glass by triumphant Time but to claim another victim; and that the trembling hopes of man, which for an eagle-winged day may intoxicate the confiding soul with their painted distance, are only as Ocean bubbles to the untaught child, who, one moment is bewildered by their fragile brilliancy, and the next, is saddened to find them gone.

Resolved, That we will cherish his memory as a generous companion and a dutiful son, in whose nature was worthily combined those ennobling qualities that so happily adorn the true gentleman; and not forgetting that we too are mortal, and that each must soon "take his chamber in the silent halls of death" to wakelessly sleep beside those who have gone before.

Resolved, That we tender our deepest sympathy to the Mother and friends of our deceased Brother in this their hour of bereavement.

Resolved, That we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Council, that a copy be sent to the family of the dead Brother, and a copy be furnished the Goldsboro' Kaleidoscope, News, Messenger, and Raleigh Friend of Temperance, for publication.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER Has become an article of commerce, which no medicine ever became before. It is as much an item in every bill of goods sent to country merchants as tea, coffee or sugar.—This speaks volumes in its favor. Glens' Falls Messenger.

Hundreds of missionaries give similar testimony of its virtues.

Rev. Jabez S. Swan says, "I have used it for years in my family, and consider it an invaluable remedy."

Rev. M. H. Bixby writes, "I have had occasion to use the Pain Killer very frequently during my residence in Burmah and have found it a very useful medicine. I did not think I could visit the jungles without it.—In case of Colic, Diarrhœa, and Cholera the Pain Killer gives speedy relief, and for many other ailments I have found it beneficial. It is popular in Burmah, among the natives as well as Europeans. I always carry it with me for my own benefit, and the good of the people where I go."

MANHOOD.—IN THE YOUNG AND RISING generation, the vegetative powers of life are strong, but in a few years how often the pallid hue, the lack lustre eye and emaciated form, and the impossibility of application to mental effort, show its baneful influence. It soon becomes evident to the observer that some depressing influence is checking the development of the body. Consumption is talked of, and perhaps the youth is removed from school and sent into the country. This is one of the worst movements. Removed from ordinary diversions of the ever changing scenes of the city, the powers of the body too much enfeebled to give zest to healthful and rural exercise, thoughts are turned inwards upon themselves.

If the patient be a female, the approach of the menses is looked for with anxiety, as the first symptom in which Nature is to show her saving power in diffusing the circulation and visiting the cheek with the bloom of health. Alas! increase of appetite has grown by what it fed on; the energies of the system are prostrated and the whole economy is deranged. The beautiful and wonderful period in which body and mind undergo so fascinating a change from child to woman, is looked for in vain; the parent's heart bleeds in anxiety, and fancies the grave but waiting for its victim.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU, for Weakness arising from excesses or early indiscretion, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, General Weakness, Horror of Disease, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Dreadful Horror of Death, Night Sweats, Cold Feet, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Languor, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, Often Enormous Appetite with Dyspeptic Symptoms, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Pale in Countenance and Eruptions on the Face, Pain in the Back, Heaviness of the Eyelids, Frequently Black Spots Flying before the Eyes, with Temporary Suffusion and Loss of Sight, Want of Attention, Great Mobility, Restlessness, with Horror of Society. Nothing is more desirable to such patients than Solitude, and nothing they more dread, for Fear of Themselves; no Repose of Manner, no Earnestness, in Speculation, but a hurried Transition from one question to another.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on—which his Medicine invariably removes—soon follow Loss of Power, Faintly, and Epileptic Fits, in one of which the patient may expire.

During the Superintendendence of Dr. Wilson at the Bloomingdale Asylum, this sad result occurred to two patients; reason had for a time left them, and both died of epilepsy. They were of both sexes, and about twenty years of age.

Who can say that these excesses are not frequently followed by those direful diseases Insanity and Consumption? The records of the Insane Asylums, and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of these assertions. In Lunatic Asylums the most melancholy exhibition appears. The countenance is actually sodden and quite destitute—neither Mirth or Grief ever visits it. Should a sound of the voice occur, it is rarely articulate.

"With woeful measures wan Despair
Low sullen sounds their grief beguiled"

Whilst we regret the existence of the above diseases and symptoms, we are prepared to offer an invaluable gift of chemistry for the removal of the consequences. HELMBOLD'S HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FLUID EXTRACT OF BUCHU. There is no tonic like it. It is an anchor of hope to the surgeon and patient, and this is the testimony of all who have used or prescribed it.

RELIGIOUS.—The Rev. Mr. Mahoney will, by Divine permission, hold a quarterly and communion meeting at Thompson's School House, in this county, on Saturday and Sunday next. The communion on Sunday.

SENT ON FOR TRIAL.—A young white man, giving the name of Wm. James Smith, a hard looking case, with a repulsive countenance, was before the Mayor on Wednesday last for stealing a watch from the pocket of Albert Whitehurst, a colored man. He was sent on to be indicted by the Grand Jury, and committed to jail. The Mayor found it extremely difficult to make Whitehurst understand the nature of the recognizance required of him for his appearance to testify in the case. Each time His Honor would repeat "Do you acknowledge yourself indebted to the State of North Carolina in the sum of $200, &c.," Whitehurst would look at him vacantly as if he couldn't see why, just because Smith stole his watch, he had become indebted to the State, "or any other man," $200 The Mayor, with as much dispatch as possible, explained the matter to the witness and dismissed Whitehurst. He left, but was evidently still perplexed about that $200.

☞ The Summer vacations of most of the Schools is here. Parents can best keep their juveniles out of mischief by giving them some employment. It should not be hard work, but something to occupy their time and attention.

PARTY TIES.—There are few ties stronger than those which bind men of similar political creeds; but the Messrs. Weil eschew politics, and the ties they keep are those which are suitable for parties, balls, &c. They also have on hand, a really choice stock of fine goods for ladies and gentlemen. New invoices are daily received at their emporium.

☞ The editor of the Fayetteville Eagle, writing to his paper from Raleigh, thus speaks of the great drawing of prizes that is to take place by the Real and Personal Estate Agency on the 28th of August next: "This Agency seems to be very prosperous. It is astonishing, the vast number of tickets they have sold. I was shown the large tin can or wheels in which the tickets or numbers are to be placed. The filling and managing of these wheels are to be by the Supervisors, C. P. Mendenhall, Sion H. Rogers, J. H. Foote, and L. C. Latham, who alone will arrange and manage the drawing, keep the wheels and announce the result. Some body is going to draw valuable property, which has already been full paid for by sale of tickets, and the surplus is the company's profits."

A CYCLONE.—The Norfolk Journal says: On Thursday night last about 8 o'clock a dark and threatening cloud broke over our city; the wind blew with the force of a tornado, throwing down fences, houses, and tearing limbs from trees. For about five minutes the force of the cyclone was terrific, followed by a heavy shower of rain.

The squall was one of the severest that has visited this city for years, and has done considerable damage.

The official count of the State vote of Virginia, at Head Quarters, shows Walker's majority to be 17,500.

The Ladies' Memorial Association of Wilmington have appointed Col. R H. Cowan, Maj. M. P. Taylor, A. H. VanBokkeln, and Donald McRae, Esqs., a committee to select a design for a monument to be placed in the memorial cemetery at Oakdale.

The artesian well at the Insane Asylum at St. Louis has reached a depth of four thousand feet, and is now to be abandoned until money can be raised. The last thousand feet cost two hundred dollars per foot. This might be called an awful bore.

General Francis P. Blair, late candidate for the Vice Presidency, was at Long Branch last week, in a state of beastly intoxication. He made himself very obnoxious in consequence of the utterance of strong sympathies with the leaders of the rebellion. Long Branch is a bad atmosphere for such dead ducks to move around in, as Frank found to his sorrow, when he became sober.

THE CAROLINA FARMER.—We are in receipt of the July number of this capital Agricultural Magazine, published in Wilmington, N. C., by Wm. H. Bernard, at $2 a year, in advance. Mr. Bernard is surely trying to over do himself in the matter and style with which the Farmer is gotten up, for which he deserves a continued increase of circulation. No farmer should hesitate about sending him a year's subscription.

ABANDONED.—The excursion to Morehead City, heretofore announced to take place on the 23d instant, has, we are requested to say, been abandoned, for reasons entirely beyond the control of those by whom it was to be managed.

☞ By invitation, we visited the Eating House of Mr. Louis Hummel a few days ago, and luxuriated over a plate of most delicious turtle soup, prepared by that popular cook, "Uncle Steve," who has no equal in his line, in this section of the country. The opening of this Saloon by Mr. Hummel will prove a great convenience to our country friends, who can get a meal at any hour of the day. We wish the enterprising proprietor abundant success.

☞ The excursion train bound for Norfolk passed through this place at about 8½ o'clock this (Tuesday) morning. There was a smaller number aboard than was our expectation to have seen, and not more than fifteen joined the excursionists at this point.

The Masonic Festival, says the Charlotte Democrat, which was held in this City on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings last, was one of the most pleasant affairs of the sort we ever attended. A large space of the Presbyterian Church Grove was enclosed with canvas, affording ample room for the accommodation of 2,000 persons, and was lighted with two or three hundred lamps of various colors, making the sight beautiful and grand. The tables were handsomely arranged and filled with fancy articles as well as substantials. The soda, wine and lemonade fountains were not only attractive to the thirsty, but added much to the beauty of the arrangements. Dr. J. H. McAden and Dr. Glover showed expertness in managing their elegant soda machines, while Dr. Scarr directed and aided in furnishing the necessary light for the occasion by the use of some of his handsome lamps. The committee of Masons having charge of the arrangements, discharged their duties well, and they were fortunate in securing the services of several energetic ladies to superintend and assist, and to whose efforts the success of the plans may be justly attributed. We learn that the receipts, altogether, amounted to over $2,400—beyond the expectations of the most sanguine.

An Irish guide told Dr. James Johnson, who wished for a reason why Echo was always of the feminine gender, that "may be it was because she always had the last word.

Frightful Encounter with a Rattlesnake.

[From the Bloomington Pantagraph]

If the following story appears a little "tough," our readers must hold our informant, and not us, rasponsible. It appears that a young man, who was full of "antidotal poison," had strayed away during the cool of the day into the southern suburbs of the city, and finally betook himself to the cemetery. There he found inviting shade, and a great carpet of grass, upon which he lay down to rest. He soon fell asleep, but was shortly after awakened by an ugly dream. Starting up suddenly, he raised his head, when, oh horrors! he was confronted by a hideous rattlesnake, which had coiled itself up in his lap, and, being disturbed, now raised its haughty crest, brandished its forked tongue, and assumed a most threatening attitude. What should be done? The least movement might cause the dreaded monster to strike his fatal fangs into the terror-stricken young man. In the most awful agony of mind conceivable, he remained for a few moments, until, being unable to endure the situation any longer, he leaped up, with a shriek that echoed far through the woods, shook off the horrid monster, and fell senseless to the earth. But the snake was ready for his victim, who was repeatedly struck upon various parts of his person, fortunately doing no injury, being protected by thick clothing. The young man soon recovered his senses, and left his antagonist in full possession of the field, and returned to the city, but made no mention of the frightful affair until several days after, and then only in compliance with the importunities of his friends, who observed his dejected and agitated state of mind, and surmised that something strange had happened to him.

A REMARKABLE STATEMENT.—An exchange says: "A Mrs. Park celebrated her one hundred and fifth birthday lately at Cleveland, Ohio.—She has raised seventeen children.—The last was born when she was sixty five years old, and she now enjoys good health, attends church regularly, is active, has good teeth and improved sight, and her hair is turning black. But she has an internal cancer of fifty years' standing.

Strange Phenomenon.

About half past eight o'clock, Wednesday morning last, several of our citizens were started by a report as of the firing of a distant cannon, which repeated itself several times, followed by a rumbling noise, like that made by a carriage passing over a bridge, and in a southern direction from this point. The same noise was heard at Concord, [illegible] from town. As no blasting is going on in the vicinity, and the sky cloudless, conjecture points to the shock of an earthquake, or explosions of an ærolite, in the vicinity. No motion of the earth was perceptible.—Statesville American.

In a fashionable novel the author says, "Lady Emma trembled, grew pale, and immediately fainted."—The printer, putting p instead of f, rendered it, "The lady grew pale, and immediately painted."

The Two Wants.—A Merry-Andrew, on being asked why he played the fool, replied, "For the same reason that you do—want; only mine is want of money, whilst yours is want of brains."

The Late Earl Dudley wound up an elegant tribute on the virtues of a deceased friend with these words:—"He was a good man—an excellent man; he had the best melted butter I ever tasted in my life."

TO THE PLANTERS AND FARMERS, AGRICULTURALISTS AND MECHANICS OF EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA.

The Executive Committee of the Cape Fear Agricultural Association have so far completed their arrangements as to announce to the people of the fifteen counties of Eastern Carolina, that are represented in the association, as well as to the people of the State at large, that they will hold their first Annual Fair at their extensive fair-grounds (of 120 acres), near the city of Wilmington, about the middle of November next, (exact days to be announced in due time).

Every accommodation will be afforded the public, within their inclosed grounds, to exhibit their stock, agricultural and mechanical products, of every kind—including that of the flower-gardens and needle-work of the ladies, &c., &c.,—on the most extensive scale desired. A race track for the trial of horses will be in readiness.

The Committee have nearly ready for publication, a very extensive list of premiums, for all articles that are likely to be offered at any State Fair, especially to farmers, gardeners, nurserymen, vegetable and fruit-growers and stock-raisers.

The Committee earnestly call upon their fellow-citizens of every honorable pursuit, to co-operate with them in making this, their first Fair, an entirely successful one.

The Association has for its object "the promotion of Agriculture, Commerce and the Mechanic Arts in that section of country of which Wilmington is the commercial centre."

And the Committee confidently expect that its members in the several counties,—and especially the Vice Presidents for the counties,—will use due dilligence in getting as large an exhibition of the products of the counties as possible. To do this, early assurances, that the Fair will be held, are deemed necessary.

The Committee are assured that the railway companies will make their rates for the transportation of persons and things so low that NO ONE will be prevented from attending with their specimens.

Miss Lizzie V. Gee, of Chicago, knit a pair of stockings which she gave to the Sanitary Commission for the use of a soldier, during the war. Inside the stockings she placed the following note:

"Soldier—Whosoever thou art, wear these socks, with the comforting assurance that the fingers that knit them were supplied with life from a warm heart. Lizzie V. Gee, Chicago."

The supply train containing the stockings was captured by the rebels, and the stockings fell into the hands of a Confederate Lieutenant, who was afterwards taken prisoner and brought to camp Douglas, Chicago. One day when putting on the stockings he thought of Miss Gee, and wrote to her, when she and her father visited him at camp. He was exchanged, and when again in the service, captured a soldier-brother of Miss Gee, whom he treated with kindness. At the end of the war the Confederate was invited to Chicago to attend the wedding of the sister of his former captive. He came and found it was not his stocking-knitter, but another sister, who was to be married. The rest of this pretty romance is soon told. He stayed in Chicago for some time, and eventually engaged Miss Gee to knit stockings for him through life. He is in business in Chicago, and she knits his stockings. So says an exchange.

[illegible] Explosion.

A ship laden with nitro-glycerine arrived on Tuesday, June 29, at Carnarvon Bar, Wales, and the cargo was thence conveyed in boats to Carnarvon Pier. In the afternoon five cart loads were dispatched, two for Assheton Smith, Llanberis quarries. When the former two were near Cwymglo a terrible explosion took place. The horses and three men were blown to atoms. The cart-wheels and portions of the cart were thrown nearly a mile. The adjacent village, nearly a quarter of a mile off, was greatly injured, roofs and windows blown off, and at the spot where the carts were, two round holes six feet deep and seven feet diameter, were made. The railway station, forty yards off, was blown to pieces. The whole valley at the foot of Snowdon, and two large lakes suffered a tremendous shock, the damage done all around the valley being very great. The shock was felt at Bangor, and for miles around. Three quarrymen, 300 yards off, were severely injured.

A Wife Crop.—A Missouri paper informs its readers that the "wife crop of Gasconade county in 1860 was 25,000 gals." The next paper corrected the error by putting "wine" in the place of wife.

A BOOK BY GENERAL LEE will awaken such special interest, that we are glad to call attention to it. The UNIVERSITY PUBLISHING COMPANY of No 4 Bond Street, New York, announce that they have now in press, and will issue in a few weeks, "Memoirs of the War," by Gen. Henry Lee, thoroughly revised and corrected by Gen. R. E. Lee, who has added, also, an entirely new biography of his father, prepared by him from private and personal materials never before used. It will be a large and handsome octavo volume, illustrated by new steel portraits of Gen. Henry Lee and Gen. Nathaniel Greene; beautiful steel engravings of "Marion Crossing the Pedee," and the "Surrender of Cornwallis;" and five original maps and plans. Our readers need not be told that this is a work of great interest and value. It is the standard history of military operations at the South during the revolutionary war, and as such is a book which every reading man should possess; but its interest and value are both greatly increased by Gen. Robert E. Lee's thorough revision and correction and by the valuable biography of his father which he has written and added to it.

We are sure that this announcement, alone, is sufficient to give the book a very great sale, but when we add that Gen. Lee is personally interested in its publication, such a sale is made certain.

As we learn that the book is to be sold by canvassing agents only, those who desire to engage in its sale should make early application to the publishers.

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR AUGUST.—The August number of this "Queen of the Monthlies" is adorned with a beautiful steel engraving of those two youthful lovers, "Paul and Virginia"—a double paged and handsomely colored Fashion Plate, containing the latest Paris styles—a picture of Maidenhood, in illustration of Longfellow's sweet poem—and the usual number of miscellaneous engravings, illustrating sea-side costumes, children's fashions, hats, head dresses, dinner and walking toilets, &c., &. The music of this month is a ballad, "The Rose of Erin." The literary contents are "An Ill Wind that blew Somebody Good," by Madge Carrol; "The Hearts Complaint," by Una Locke; "Jarring Chords," by A. M. Dana, and "Bitter or Sweet," by Florence Percy. Those fascinating novelets, "Roland Yorke; or, Done in Passion," by Mrs. Henry Wood, and "Between Two," by Miss Elizabeth Prescott, are continued. We are glad to see that the editor, in her usual sensible way, object decidedly to the high-heel folly. Published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, at $2.50 a year (which also includes a large steel engraving). Four copies, $6. Five copies (and one gratis), $8. "The Lady's Friend" and "The Saturday Evening Post" (and one engraving), $4.00. Specimen numbers sent for ten cents.

DEMOREST'S YOUNG AMERICA.—The brightest and best of all the juvenile magazines. Doesticks said he liked the Episcopal Church, because the minister let the people "talk back," Mr. Demorest understands this; he lets his little readers do their own talking, or, at any rate, "talk back," and they seem to like it, and are at any rate devoted to YOUNG AMERICA! Certainly this little magazine combines more instruction of the very best kind, with amusement, than any magazine we ever saw. $1.50 per year, with a premium. Publication Office, 838 Broadway, New York.

WEDNESDAY JULY 21, 1869.

COUSIN SALLY DILLARD OUT-DONE.

The following humorous article was handed us for publication. We do not know in what paper it first appeared, but it was copied, we understand, very extensively. It is a good thing and we think it worth republishing.—It happened before the war:

Scene at Chatham during the session of the Circuit Court, in The Commonwealth vs. Cassady, on a charge of malicious stabbing.

The venire being empanneled, and the jury solemnly charged by the clerk, the Commonwealth's Attorney called in support of the indictment, the witness, Cuck Bryant, who being solemnly sworn the truth to tell, testified as follows:

"Tell me all you know about the cutting of the prosecutor by Cassady, the prisoner at the bar?"

Answer—Well, gentlemen, it was election day—'twas a dark, cloudy, wet sort of drizzly day, and says I to my old woman, I believe I'll go down to Ringgold and 'posite my vote.—And says my old woman to me, well, Buck, as it is a sort of a dark, cloudy, wet sort of a drizzily day, says she, hadn't you better take your umbrill. Says I to the old woman, I spec I had better take the umbrill. So I took the umbrill and advanced down towards Ringgold, and when I got down there Mr. Cole comed, and says he uncle Buck, have you seen anything of old neighbor Harris? Says I to Mr. Cole, for why? Says he, he's got my umbrill.

The witness was here interrupted by the Court, and told to confine himself to the actual fray between the prisoner and Cole, the prosecutor.—In answer to which the witness remarked, in a tone of indignant remonstrance, well now Mr. Judge, you hold on, and I am gwine to tell it my own way—so taint wuf while for you to say nothing more about it; whereupon the Court and commonwealth's attorney being anxious to get rid of the witness on any terms, told him to go on and tell the tale in his own way.

Well, as I was going on to say. 'twas on 'lection day. Buchanan and Filmore was running for the Legislatur, and says I to my old woman, says I, I b'leve I'll go down to Ringgold and 'posit my vote. Says my old woman to me says she, Buck, as it is a sort of a dark, cloudy, damp, rainy, drizzly day hadn't you better take my umbrill? says she. Says I to the old woman, says I, I spec I had better take my umbrill; so I took the umbrill and advanced on towards Ringgold till I arrived thar. Well the first thing I did when I got thar was to take a drink of Buchanan whiskey, which was monstrous good, and says I to myself, says I old hoss, you feel better don't you? And while I was advancing around, Mr. Cole he come to me; says he Uncle Buck, says he, have you seen anything of old neighbor Harriss? Says I for why? Says he old cock's got my umbrill. Arter a while I 'posited my vote, and then Mr. Cole and me advanced back towards home, and Mr. Cole was tighter than I even seed him.

And so we advanced along till we got to whar the road and path forked, and Mr. Cole and me tuck the path, as any other gentlemen would, and arter advancing awhile we arriv to old neighbor Harriss, setting on a log with the umbrill on his arm, and about that time Elijah Cassady (the prisoner) came up, and we advanced on till we arriv at Elijah's house. Elijah is my nephew and likewise my son-in-law—he married my darter Jane which is next to my darter Sally.—Arter we had advanced to Elijah's house we stood in the yard awhile ajawing and presently two somebodies rid up on a hoss, which was Johnson before, and Whitfield Cassady behind—Whitfield and Kiah Cassady being the same. Elijah and Kiah is brothers, both born in the nat'ral way, like anybody else's brothers, no gals between 'em and both of them is about the same age, especially Kiah, which ar the youngest. Kiah war drunk, and he and Mr. Cole got to cussin one another about politix, and I advanced into the house whar was settin Elijah's wife, which is my darter Jane, which is next to my darter Sally. Well after jawing awhile with 'em my little nephew says he to me, says he, uncle Buck let's go home. Says I, good pop, so we pegged on together and I heard somebody calling me, but never 'tentioned 'em or turned back. Well, I got home and was eating my supper, and Elijah, which is my son-in-law, and married my darter Jane which is next to my darter Sally, arrived, and said to me, uncle Buck, says he, I've killed a man. says I, the hell you have? And this are all I know about the stabbing, because I warn't thar.

Swelled jaws in sheep can be effectually cured by rubbing the inside of the jaw and mouth with a mixture made of alum and salt, equal parts of each.

MEASURES AND WEIGHTS.—To measure Corn in the ear in bulk.—Rule: Multiply the length, breadth and height together, in feet and tenths of feet, and multiply this product by 4; strike off the right-hand figure, and the result will be shelled bushels.

To measure Grain in bulk.—Rule: Multiply length, breadth and height together in feet and tenths, divide by 56 and multiply by 45, and the result will be struck measure.

To find the number of Acres in a Field which has parallel sides.—Rule: Multiply the length by the breadth, and divide by 160.

To measure Wood.—Rule: Multiply the length, breadth and height together, and divide by 128. The quotient will be cords, the remainder will be feet.

To find the number of tons of Hay in a mow or bay.—Rule: Weigh it. Or, to guess at the number of tons of hay in a mow, multiply the length, breadth and height together, which will give you the number of solid feet, and estimate from 350 to 800 feet to the ton, according to experience.—There is no way that an experienced man can buy or sell by measure correctly.

The price per ton being given, to find the value of any number of pounds.—Rule: Multiply the number of pounds by half the price in dollars, and the answer will be mills.

Illustration.—At $12 per ton, what are 3800 lbs. worth? 3800 by 6, half the number of dollars, = 22,800 mills, which is $22.80.

"Not at all sir; I merely said that I have seen him frequently so flurried in his mind, that he would undertake to cut out copy with the snuffers—tha't all."

A LADY at sea, full of apprehensions, in a gale of wind, cried out, among other exclamations "We shall go to the bottom! Mercy on us, how my head swims!"

"Madam, never fear," said one of the sailors; "you can never go to the bottom while your head swims."

"My dear doctor," said a lady, "I suffer a great deal with my eyes."—"Be patient madam," he replied, "you would probably suffer a great deal more without them."

"MASTER at home?" "No, sir, he's out." "Mistress at home?" "No, sir, she's out." "Then I'll step in and sit by the fire." "That's out too."

WILLIAMSTON, MARTIN CO., February 22nd, 1869.

MR. JNO. R. CONGLETON, RALEIGH, N. C.

Dear Sir:—For the last eight or ten years I have been exceedingly troubled with a painful and distressing case of the Piles. Hearing "Congleton's Vegetable Salve" spoken so highly of as the great cure for Piles, I purchased in March, 1868, while in Washington, N. C, one box, and was soon relieved, and by the time I had used the contents of the box, I was perfectly well, and have never had any return since. I consider myself entirely and permanently cured. I give this for the benefit of those who may be troubled with the same disease, believing thereby that I will be benefiting them, and recommending to them a most valuable medicine and worthy of great praise.

I have also used the salve for Sore Throat, and find it the best medicine I ever had in my family for that complaint.

Respectfully yours,

JAS H ELLISON.

WAKE COUNTY, N. C, Feb. 14, 1866

MR. CONGLETON—Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure that I heroin certify to the efficacy of your Vegetable Salve, in the cure of Piles. I have been afflicted with said disease some twenty five years, more or less. I have tried various remedies, but found no cure until I was advised by a friend in Raleigh to try your Salve, which I have done, and am at present perfectly well. I have used only one box, which I think, it judiciously used, will cure any case like mine.

I would advise all afflicted with said disease to go and do likewise

Yours respectfully,

HENRY UTLEY.

TESTIMONIALS:

RALEIGH N. C, Jan 16, 1869.

MR CONGLETON:—On the 14th inst., I came to town with considerable pain and swelling in my right knee I got a bottle of the "American Rheumatic Liniment" and applied it to my knee, which was greatly relieved and assuaged in ten hours. I then applied it again and by night was so far cured as to forget to apply the remedy; this pain had resisted the application of Liquid Opodeldoc for a week with as any perceptible improvement, causing a limp in my walk at sometime and fears of inability to walk at all.

Respectfully,

THOS BAILY,

MR. CONGLETON:—Dear Sir: My little son was for four months suffering with pain in his legs and weakness in his knees so he scarcely could get about and walked with great difficulty. I was fearful that he would lose the use of his legs entirely, which gave me a great deal of trouble and anxiety, hearing of the American Rheumatic Liniment, I purchased one bottle and commenced using it, and by the time had used half of the bottle, my son was greatly relieved and could walk very well, and after using the whole bottle, he is now perfectly well, with many thanks to you and praises for the "American Rheumatic Liniment" I am yours, &c.,

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A compound remedy, designed to be the most effectual Alterative that can be made. It is a concentrated extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidote for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is believed that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints, and that one which will accomplish their cure must prove of immense service to this large class of our afflicted fellow-citizens. How completely this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cases to be found of the following complaints:—

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS COMPLAINTS, ERUPTIONS AND ERUPTIVE DISEASES, ULCERS, PIMPLES, BLOTCHES, TUMORS, SALT RHEUM, SCALD HEAD, SYPHILIS AND SYPHILITIC AFFECTIONS, MERCURIAL DISEASE, DROPSY, NEURALGIA OR TIC DOULOUREUX, DEBILITY, DYSPEPSIA AND INDIGESTION, ERYSIPELAS, ROSE OR ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

This compound will be found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which fester in the blood at that season of the year. By the timely expulsion of them many rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can, by the aid of this remedy, spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system will strive to rid itself of corruptions, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Sooner or later something must go wrong, and the great machinery of life is disordered or overthrown.

Sarsaparilla has, and deserves much, the reputation of accomplishing these ends. But the world has been egregiously deceived by preparations of it, partly because the drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, but more because many preparations, pretending to be concentrated extracts of it, contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaparilla, or any thing else.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter and painful disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself is justly despised, and has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. And we think we have ground for believing it has virtues which are irresistible by the ordinary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to directions on the bottle.
